This is a unique and efficient reference manual used by human resources evaluators, mental health professionals, security, law enforcement and corrections officials.

It is a diagnostic tool which can be readily applied to detect and identify high-risk behavior in employees, students, patients, prisoners and criminal suspects.

The techniques taught are user-friendly to all readers, regardless of graphology experience.

This manual provides visual/pictorial maps and psychological descriptions of both mentally healthy and dangerous traits. It further describes character traits which tend to facilitate or inhibit dangerous behavior.

This psychological assessment tool (a compendium of data and directions) identifies the dangerous/violent personality and provides a method for confirming educated guesses by way of critical examination.

It includes sections on Primary Signs of Dangerousness (D), Facilitators to Dangerousness (F), and Inhibitors to Dangerousness (I). It is generously illustrated with handwritings and biographical sketches.

The result of a ten-year research project at Hawaii State Hospital, it is a comprehensive study of potential dangerousness. The danger signals are clearly revealed and documented using handwritings of people throughout history.

For use in Conflict Resolution, Workplace Violence, Employment Pre-screening, Investigation, Law Enforcement, Safe-Dating, Domestic Spousal Abuse.

Example profiles of proven or potential murderers, serial killers and mass murderers include: Ramsey Ransom Note, Oklahoma Bomber, OJ Simpson, Unabomber, Andrew Cunanan.

Client Comments Include: Courts, Corrections and Parole Board Officials, Mental Health Authorities, Prosecuting Attorneys, Psychiatrists, Psychologists, Police Departments and Law Enforcers, Forensic Experts, Attorneys, Experimental Psychologists, Security Professionals, Education Professionals, and Research and Evaluation Specialists.
